

Simplicity... Empowerment... Control...

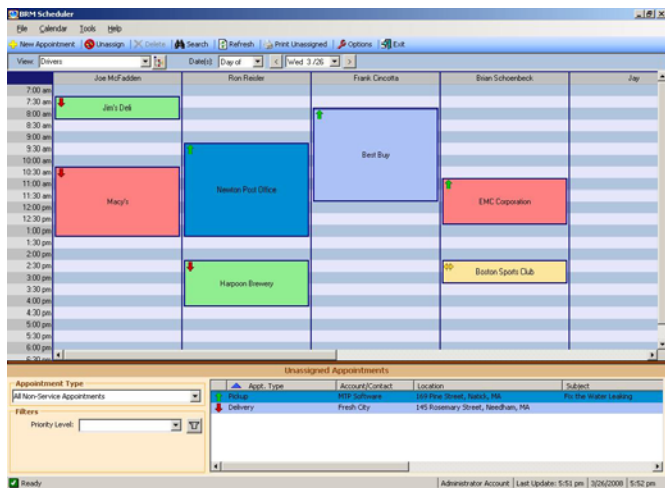

Your world at your fingertips

Your company has been selected to cater the big event. You know all too well that catering and event planning companies survive on referrals and repeat business.

You only have one chance to get it right.

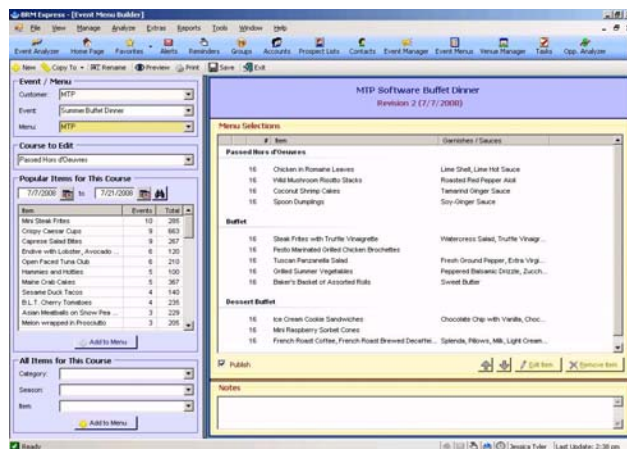

The headcount and menu are in a state of constant flux right up until the big day. Keeping sales, kitchen, warehouse and event staff all on the same page is a daunting task when you only have to manage a single event. How do you ensure that ALL the events that you are managing go off flawlessly?

BRM 5.0 manages all your events from initial customer inquiry right through the day of the event, ensuring that everyone has the same information, regardless of changes in event details and personnel.
